

I understand that a new broadcast service, Low Power FM, could jeopardize my local K LOVE radio station that I receive from a FM translator. K LOVE serves me and my community by providing uplifting music as well as scriptures and encouraging comments all day long to listen to in the hectic pace of today's world. I am able to stay focused on God and his ideas rather than all the negativity that is portrayed on most other forms of media. Without K LOVE in my community, there is not another source of commercial free programming that is a ministry to us with such positive and proper messages. I believe that the service I receive from K LOVE is in the public's interest to stay because people need God in their lives and need to hear constant encouragement to keep headed in the right direction without the distraction of commercials and governing bodies that can tell their station what and how to broadcast. Please don't allow these Low Power FM stations to override my local K LOVE station.

Sincerely,
Ron Roten
